

With Shaking Hands by Lauria

I won't lie now
No more time for lies
No more place to hide
My feelings
I won't die now
Though it feels like so
Though I'm all alone
On a Sunday evening

There was no doubt in my mind
We were two of a kind
Would've left it all behind
For you
Though our spirits were aligned
It felt like we were blind
And the stars are too unkind
For us to make it through

So I'm writing with shaking hands this goodbye letter
Hoping that I get the chance to burn it later
Why is love not enough?
Why is life so rough
My hands are shaking
'Cause it's over.

I won't cry now
No more tears to cry
No matter how hard I try

Holding on to my feelings
I won't turn back, not again
I won't play with your heart
Like a child in the rain
I'd shoot a gun for you, if you asked me to
But what if it's me the bullet will undo?

Oh it puts me in a place
That I need to escape
It's dark and I'm afraid
But I've already decided
I will brave it all today
Pretend like I'm okay
Numb my heart as I
Walk away

So I'm writing with shaking hands this goodbye letter
Hoping that I get the chance to burn it later
Why is love not enough?
Why is life so rough
My hands are shaking
'Cause it's over.

Why is
Love not Enough?
So rough
Why is
Love not Enough?

So I'm writing with shaking hands this goodbye letter

Hoping that I get the chance to burn it later

Why is love not enough?

Why is life so rough

My hands are shaking

'Cause it's over.

So I'm writing with shaking hands this goodbye letter

Hoping that I get the chance to burn it later

Why is love not enough?

Why is life so rough

My hands are shaking

'Cause it's over.